

Throughout the nurseries we are currently in the process of launching of Tapestry, an online learning journal individual to every child. Tapestry is easily accessible to all parents via the free Tapestry app.

The journal records all the teaching and learning aspects of each child's education here at Nursery. Parents are also encouraged to add to their individual child's journal regularly and this information is used by keyworkers to inform daily planning.

Tapestry allows the practitioners to easily capture the learning experiences of the children and share observations online with the parents.

Tapestry is used by hundreds of nurseries, schools and early year's educators throughout the UK and is a very popular way to monitor and observe children, not only within the EYFS but in Key Stage 1 and 2. Elmscot staff, who have undergone training over the last few months, feel the system demonstrates an excellent all-round picture of the children's progress for parents to view. We are aiming to have the journals live for parents by the end of February. Watch out for the email to activate your child's journal and do let us have any feedback

Play Time With Pensioners

Play Time with Pensioners is our scheme where the children reach out within the community to meet with older people, build relationships, learn through play and encourage the children to learn about the community around us. The children have the opportunity to meet lots of the residents and look at favourite stories, play games and jigsaws and even create pictures together using felt tips. Each nursery enjoys a play day every other month.

Bringing First Aid Training In-House

In March 2016, Lucy Yarnell (Deputy Manager, Elmscot Altrincham) and Gemma Stott (Deputy Manager, Kids Collective) became our first in-house First Aid Trainers, able to train and certify our own First Aiders – prior to this all staff training in First Aid was delivered by third-party training companies. The Elmscot Group has always insisted 100% of the team are certified First Aiders as, although expensive, it seemed like common sense (Ofsted only requires one First Aider to be present). With nursery teams growing and First Aid training needing to be renewed every 3 years, it made sense for the company to have in house trainers to meet the training needs of the group. Lucy and Gemma undertook a full ECAT Level 2 Assessor qualification specialising in First Aid and although it was a challenge working full time whilst completing the training course, they did it! They were given in-depth assignments assessing different learning styles and practices for an overall insight into teaching, followed by a week-long intensive course to update their own existing First Aid qualification to become First Aid Trainers. During this week, Lucy and Gemma extended their understanding of CPR, bandaging and common illnesses and finally gave their own PowerPoint training presentations to the rest of the class! The two colleagues passed with flying colours and have been training Elmscot Group staff since September last year. From 2018, they will also take over delivering short First Aid workshops to parents and carers as part of our free Parent Workshop scheme, which has been part of our Partnership with Parents policy for several years now, enabling us to reach out and support more families using the Elmscot Group's service. Lucy stated "It was a challenge going from teaching children, to teaching adults and at first it was quite daunting but I feel after detailed preparation and practice delivering the courses to our teams, I have a wealth of knowledge, I am more self-assured and definitely find running the courses rewarding knowing the teams are enjoying the training sessions!" Gemma added.
